Carvana customers save valuable time and money with The New Way to Buy a Car® by skipping the dealership and shopping online. And Carvana never charges hidden, bogus fees like "documentation fees," which can often be added to the price of a vehicle at the last minute. Customers looking to trade in their vehicle, or sell a vehicle, can also skip the dealership by simply entering their VIN or license plate number on Carvana.com, answer a few questions and Carvana can pick up the vehicle and bring them a check, as soon as the next day.

All 30,000+ vehicles in Carvana's national inventory are photographed in 360 degrees, so customers get a high-definition virtual tour, along with the peace of mind of a seven-day return policy. An upgrade to the traditional test drive, living with the vehicle for seven days gives customers the time to ensure their vehicle fits their needs. Customers can see how they handle a trip through Mt. Hood National Forest, or how it fits a weekly haul from the Portland Farmers Market.

"As we grow to cover more of the U.S. population, we're confident Portland area residents will embrace the efficiency, transparency, and ease that comes with our car buying and selling experience," said Ernie Garcia, founder and CEO of Carvana. "Our debut in the Pacific Northwest today ensures we're continuing to reach as many people as possible with The New Way to Buy a Car®."

Carvana now offers as-soon-as-next-day vehicle delivery to customers in 280 cities across the U.S.
