Carvana customers shop online from the comfort of home or on the go via their mobile device, saving valuable time and money, while avoiding the costly fees and high-pressure sales environment of a dealership. Additionally, every

Carvana vehicle comes with a seven-day return policy, giving the customer an upgrade to the traditional test-drive, ensuring they have time to determine if the vehicle fits their life.

All vehicles are Carvana Certified, meaning they have all undergone a rigorous 150-point inspection, have no frame damage and have never been in a reported accident. Features, imperfections and updated information about open safety recalls are listed on the car's vehicle description page.

"As we expand coast-to-coast, growing our reach in California is increasingly important," said Ernie Garcia, founder and CEO of Carvana. "Fresno is a major city in the Central Valley, and we're looking forward to showing their growing population the new way to buy a car."

Carvana first launched in California in 2017, in Los Angeles. With the launch of the Fresno market, Carvana now offers as-soon-as-next-day delivery in 81 cities across the U.S. and six in California.
