Carvana can save customers valuable time and money, allowing them to skip the dealership and shop from the comfort of home or on the go via their mobile device. Carvana pioneered online car buying, including its patented virtual vehicle tour, where customers can view vehicles in high-definition, 360-degree photography, inside and out. Carvana vehicles have passed a rigorous 150-point inspection, have never been in a reported accident and have no frame damage. Features, imperfections and updated information about open safety recalls are listed on every car's vehicle description page.

Carvana vehicles come with a seven-day return policy, giving customers the time to ensure the vehicle fits their life; an upgrade to the traditional test-drive. Seattle area customers can take the time to see how the vehicle maneuvers in rain, hard-to-navigate hills or even check to see just how comfortable seating is for day trips out of the city.

Customers looking to trade in their vehicle, or sell a vehicle, can also skip the dealership by simply entering their VIN or license plate number on Carvana.com, answering a few questions, and Carvana can pick up the vehicle and bring them a check, as soon as the next day.

"We want to bring our easy, transparent car buying and selling experience to as many people as possible, and our expansion into the Pacific Northwest, and especially Seattle, brings us even closer to that goal," said Ernie Garcia, Carvana founder and CEO. "We're confident Seattle area residents will appreciate the great selection we offer, now with as-soon-as-next-day delivery."

Carvana now offers as-soon-as next-day vehicle delivery to customers in 292 cities across the U.S.
